The Act also prohibits the candidate, or someone acting on the candidate's behalf, from accepting a contribution from a person who is not entitled to make a contribution. Since contributions may take the form of money, goods, or services, any use by a candidate of the municipality's resources for his/her election campaign would be viewed as a contribution and, therefore, a violation of the Act. Information made available to the public on the municipality's website does not constitute a contribution to a candidate. This information may include the phone number and email address provided by the candidate on their nomination form, as well as a hyperlink to the candidate's website.

- No person shall use any Township Resource for Campaigning or any election-related activity, during a Campaign Period.

Campaign Finances

The Municipal Elections Act, 1996 imposes limitations on the expenses for candidates in municipal elections and also imposes requirements on the candidate to report the contributions received and the funds expended. The candidate should become familiar with these provisions.

Record keeping

You are responsible for keeping records of the financial activities related to your campaign. The Municipal Elections Act, 1996 does not require you to use any specific accounting system. You may want to consult with an auditor or an accountant early in your campaign to make sure that you are using a bookkeeping and accounting system that will suit your needs.

You should also review the Campaign Financial Statement (appended) that you will be required to file to make sure that you are keeping records of all the information that must be included on the Statement.

You are required to keep all of your campaign financial records until November 15, 2026 when the next council takes office. You must keep the following records:

- the receipts issued for every contribution including when you accepted the contribution and the date you issued the receipt (Remember to issue receipts to yourself for any contributions you make)
- the value of every contribution, whether it is in the form of money, goods or services, and the contributor's name and address
- all expenses, including the receipts obtained for each expense
- any claim for payment of an expense that the campaign disputes or refuses to pay
- the funds raised and expenses incurred from each separate fundraising event or activity
- the monies received at a fundraising event or activity by donations of $25 or more
- the terms of any loan received from a bank or other recognized lending institution

Campaign period

You are only allowed to accept contributions or incur campaign expenses during your campaign period.

Your campaign begins on the day you file your nomination.

In most cases, your campaign will end on October 23, 2025. Exceptions are:

- If you withdrew your nomination, your campaign ends on the date you informed the clerk in writing that you withdrew
- If you were not certified as a candidate and your name did not appear on the ballot, your campaign ends on nomination day (July 25, 2025)

If you have extended your campaign to pay down a deficit, the end date for the extended campaign period will be the earliest of:

- the day you notify the clerk in writing that you will be ending your campaign and not accepting any more contributions;
- you no longer have a deficit;

Bank account

Once you have filed your nomination form, you are required to open a separate bank account for your campaign. Even if you are planning a very small campaign, you are not permitted to use your personal bank account for campaign finances.

All contributions – including contributions you make yourself – must be deposited into the campaign bank account. All expenses must be paid for from the campaign account (with the exception of the nomination fee).

You are not required to open a bank account if you do not raise or spend money related to your campaign.

Contributions

Campaign contributions are any money, goods or services that are given to you for use in your campaign, including money and goods that you contribute yourself.

If you are given a special discount on a good or service that you are purchasing for your campaign, the difference between what you were charged and what an average person would be charged is considered to be a contribution.

Example:

Your order for campaign signs would normally cost $500, but the vendor agrees to sell them to you for $300. You must record a contribution of $200 in goods or services from the vendor. If a professional who would normally charge for a service gives you that service for free, the value of the service (i.e. what an average person would pay for it) is considered to be a contribution.

If you sell goods at a fundraising event for more than their market value, the difference between what the person paid you and what they would have normally paid for the item is considered to be a contribution if the amount is over $25.00.

If you sell tickets to a fundraising event, the cost of the ticket is considered to be a contribution.

If you have inventory such as signs left over from a previous campaign and you use them again, the current market value of the signs (i.e. what it would cost you to buy those signs today) is considered to be a contribution that you make to your campaign.

If you or your spouse guarantees your campaign loan, and the campaign is unable to repay the full amount, any unpaid balance is considered to be a contribution by the guarantor.

Things that are deemed not to be contributions

If you have volunteers working for your campaign, the value of their volunteer labour is not considered to be a contribution.

A cash donation of $25 or less received at a fundraising event is not considered to be a contribution, and you may accept such donations without keeping track of who gave them to you.

The value of free political advertising, provided that such advertising is made available to all candidates and is in accordance with the Broadcasting Act (Canada) is not considered to be a contribution.

If you obtain a campaign loan from a bank or a recognized lending institution in Ontario, the amount of the loan is not considered to be a contribution. Note that loans may only be guaranteed by the candidate or spouse.

When you can receive contributions

You can only accept contributions after you have filed your nomination, and you cannot accept contributions after your campaign period has ended. Any contributions received outside the campaign period must be returned to the contributor. If you cannot return the contribution to the contributor, you must return it to the Clerk.

Who can make a contribution

You can accept contributions from:

- individuals who normally reside in Ontario
- yourself and your spouse

Groups such as clubs, associations or ratepayer's groups are not eligible to make contributions. The members of these groups may make individual contributions from their personal funds (as long as they are residents of Ontario).

Ineligible contributors

The following individuals and organizations are not allowed to make contributions to municipal and school board campaigns:

- a federal political party, constituency association, or a registered candidate in a federal election
- a provincial political party, constituency association, or a registered candidate or leadership contestant
- a federal or provincial government, a municipality or a school board
- corporations that carry on business in Ontario
- trade unions that hold bargaining rights for employees in Ontario

Contribution limits

There is a $1,200 limit that applies to each person who contributes to your campaign. If a person makes more than one contribution (e.g. contributes money, contributes goods, and purchases a ticket to a fundraising event), the total value of all the contributions cannot exceed $1,200.

The maximum total amount that a contributor can give to candidates in the same jurisdiction (i.e. running for the same council or the same school board) is $5,000.

Only a contribution that is $25 or less can be made in cash. All contributions above $25 must be made by cheque, money order, or by a method that clearly shows where the funds came from.

Candidates are required to inform contributors of contribution limits. Candidates could consider including on their receipts the contribution limits as noted above.

Contributions from yourself and your spouse

The maximum contribution by a candidate or spouse is the lessor of $7,500 + $0.20 per elector for the head of Council.

If your campaign ends with a surplus, you can withdraw the value of contributions that you and your spouse made from the surplus. If you still have a surplus once you have withdrawn your contributions, the surplus remaining must be returned to the Clerk.

You are not permitted to refund contributions made by anyone other than yourself or your spouse.

Preliminary Maximum Permitted Expenses

Position	Maximum Amount	Maximum Amount for Parties, etc. after voting day	Maximum contributions to a candidate's own election campaign
Mayor	$ 16,039.10	$1,603.91	$ 9,509.20
Third Party Advertiser	$5,502.30	$550.23	Not applicable

Contribution receipts

You must issue a receipt for every contribution you receive. The receipt should show who made the contribution, the date, and the value. If the contribution was in goods or services, you must determine the value of the goods or services and issue a receipt for the full value. Candidates could consider including the contribution limits on the bottom of the receipts.

If you receive a cheque from a joint personal account, the receipt must be issued only to the person who signed the cheque. The contribution can only come from one person.

You are required to list the names and addresses of every contributor who gives more than $100 total to your campaign in your financial statement. You should keep a record of the names and addresses of every contributor, regardless of the value of their contribution, because the same contributor may make multiple contributions that end up totalling more than $100.

Note: Contribution receipts are not tax receipts. Contributions to municipal and school board campaigns cannot be claimed against provincial or federal income taxes.

Returning ineligible contributions

You are required to return any contribution that was made or accepted in contravention of the Act as soon as you learn that it was an ineligible contribution. If you cannot return the contribution, you must return it to the Clerk. Contributions should be returned or paid to the Clerk if the contribution is:

- made outside your campaign period
- from an anonymous source (except for donations of $25 or less at a fundraising event)
- from an ineligible source (e.g. someone who doesn't live in Ontario, a corporation, trade union, etc.)
- greater than the $1200 limit or the $5,000 total limit per jurisdiction;
- a cash contribution greater than $25
- from funds that do not belong to the contributor who gave them to you

Fundraising

Fundraising functions are events or activities held by you or on your behalf for the primary purpose of raising money for your campaign. If you hold an event to promote your campaign and you happen to receive some contributions or ask people to consider contributing to your campaign, this would not qualify as a fundraising event.

Similarly, if you have a sentence in your campaign brochure asking people to make a contribution or giving them information about how to contribute, this would not be a fundraising brochure since its primary purpose is to promote your campaign, not to raise money.

Fundraising events and activities can only be held during your campaign period. You must record the gross income (including ticket revenue and other revenue) and the expenses related to each event and activity on your campaign financial statement.

If you sell tickets to the event, the ticket price is considered to be a contribution to your campaign and you must issue a receipt to each person who purchases tickets. If the ticket price is higher than $25, tickets cannot be paid for in cash.

If your ticket price is more than $100, you must include these contributions in Table 1 on your campaign financial statement. If your ticket price is less than $100 and a person who buys a ticket makes other contributions totalling more than $100 (including the cost of the ticket), you must record these contributions – including the cost of the ticket.

If you raise funds by selling goods or services for more than fair market value, the difference between the fair market value and the amount paid is considered to be a contribution if the amount is over $25.00.

If you sell goods (such as food and drink) at market value, the revenue is not considered to be a contribution, but must still be recorded on your campaign financial statement as "revenue not deemed a contribution".

If you host a party or make other expressions of appreciation after the close of voting, the spending limit is ten percent (10%) of your maximum spending limit as issued by the Clerk.

Expenses

Campaign expenses are the costs that you incur (or that a person such as your campaign manager incurs on your behalf) during your campaign.

The first expense that you will incur is your nomination fee. It is the only expense that does not have to be paid from your campaign bank account (since you cannot open your campaign bank account until after you have paid the fee).

You can only incur expenses during your campaign period.

Goods and services that are contributed to your campaign are also expenses. They should be treated as if the contributor gave you money and you went out and purchased the goods and services – you must record both the contribution and the expense.

If you are given a special discount on a good or service that you are purchasing for your campaign, you should record the expense as if you were not given the discount (since the value of the discount is considered to be a contribution of the good or service to your campaign).

Example:

Your order for campaign signs would normally cost $500, but the vendor lets you have them for $300 because he wants to help out your campaign. You should record an expense of $500 for the signs, and record a contribution of $200 in goods or services from the vendor. (Note: the contribution would have to be a personal contribution from the vendor.)

Expenses must be paid from your campaign bank account. If you use a credit card to pay for purchases, you should make sure that you keep clear records showing that the expense on the credit card was reimbursed from the campaign account.

Spending Limit

There are limits on the amount a candidate may spend on expenses during the period commencing on the date the candidate is nominated under Section 33 of the Act and ending on voting day. The limits on campaign expenses are based on a formula that corresponds to the number of electors entitled to vote for the office for which the candidate is nominated on July 25, 2025 and is the greater of the number of eligible electors based on the number of eligible electors used in the calculation of the preliminary expense limits.

Types of Expenses

The following are deemed to be expenses under the Municipal Elections Act (Section 88.19(3):

- replacement value of goods retained from any previous election and used in the current election
- the value of contributions of goods and services
- audit and accounting fees
- interest on loans
- cost of holding fundraising function
- cost of holding parties and other expressions of appreciation after the close of voting
- expenses related to a recount or a controverted election
- expenses related to a compliance audit
- expenses incurred by a candidate with a disability that are directly related to the candidate's disability and would not have been incurred if not for the election
- cost of election campaign advertisements

The cost of holding fundraising functions does not include costs related to events or activities that are organized to promote public awareness of a candidate and at which soliciting of contributions is incidental nor is promotional materials in which the soliciting of contributions is incidental.

The following expenses are not subject to the spending limit:

- audit and accounting fees
- expenses related to holding a fundraising function
- expenses related to parties and other expressions of appreciation after the close of voting (subject to limits explained below)
- expenses relating to a recount or controverted election
- expenses relating to a compliance audit
- expenses incurred by a candidate with a disability that are directly related to the candidate's disability and would not have been incurred if not for the election

When the spending limit applies

Your spending limit covers expenses that you incur between the beginning of your campaign and voting day. Expenses that you incur between the day after voting day and the end of your campaign are not subject to the spending limit except for parties or other expressions of appreciation.

Note: If you incur an expense before voting day, but do not pay for it until after voting day, it would still be subject to the spending limit.

Campaign inventory

If you ran in the last election and you want to reuse leftover goods such as signs or office supplies you must establish the current market value of the goods – what it would cost you to purchase them today. You must record the current market value as an expense.

If you have inventory left at the end of your campaign it becomes your personal property. If you wish to store materials such as signs for use in another election, any costs related to storage are personal costs, not campaign expenses.

A note to accountants: the value of all goods must be recorded as an expense regardless of whether the campaign ends with used or unused goods in inventory. Do not deduct the value of unused goods from the campaign expenses, as this will result in the campaign having a surplus on paper that the candidate does not actually have.

Spending Limits for Parties After the Close of Voting

Expenses related to parties and other expressions of appreciation after the close of voting are not subject to the spending limit established for the election campaign. However, the Act now contains a maximum spending limit for this item which is equal to 10% of the overall spending limit established for the campaign. If your spending limit is $6800.00, the maximum eligible for parties and other expressions of appreciation would be $680.00.

Campaign Financial Statement

It is your responsibility as a candidate to file a complete and accurate financial statement on time.

The filing deadline is 2:00 p.m. on November 24, 2025.

If you have a bookkeeper or accountant to complete the financial statement for you, you are still responsible for ensuring that it is complete, accurate, and filed on time.

If you filed a nomination form, you must file a financial statement. This includes candidates who withdrew their nomination, candidates who were not certified and did not appear on the ballot, and candidates who were acclaimed.

If you did not receive any contributions (including contributions from yourself) or incur any expenses other than the nomination filing fee, you are only required to fill out the first page of the financial statement and sign it.

If you received contributions or incurred any expenses beyond the nomination fee, you must complete the relevant parts of the financial statement.

If your campaign contributions (including contributions from yourself) or campaign expenses are greater than $10,000 you must have your financial statement audited and include the auditor's report when you submit your financial statement to the Clerk.

Once filed, should you discover an error in the submitted financial statement, you may withdraw the statement and submit a corrected statement prior to the filing deadline.

If you think that you will be unable to file your financial statement by the deadline, you may apply to the Superior Court of Justice for an extension.

If you do not file the financial statement or apply for an extension by the deadline, provided you pay a late filing fee of $500. You will not be entitled to a refund of your nomination filing fee in this case.

If, you have not given the clerk your financial statement or written notice that you have applied to the court for an extension, you will forfeit your elected office (if you won the election) and you will be ineligible to run for office or be appointed to fill a vacancy until after the 2026 election.

Extended campaigns

Your campaign period ends on October 23, 2025. However, if your campaign has a deficit, you can extend your campaign in order to do some additional fundraising. If you want to extend your campaign, you must notify the Clerk using the Notice of Extension of Campaign.

If you extend your campaign you must file two financial statements:

- a financial statement reflecting your campaign until October 23, 2025 (due at 2 p.m. on November 24, 2025).
- a supplementary financial statement which includes the information from your primary statement and adds financial information from your extended campaign.

Surplus and Deficit

If your campaign ends with a surplus you can withdraw the value of contributions that you and your spouse made from the surplus. If you still have a surplus once you have withdrawn your contributions, the surplus remaining must be returned to the Clerk. The surplus will be held in trust, and you can use it if you incur expenses related to a recount, an application for a controverted election, or a compliance audit. If the surplus is not needed for these expenses it becomes the property of the municipality or school board.

If your campaign expenses are greater than your campaign income, your campaign will be in deficit. You are not allowed to carry forward this deficit to your next campaign if you run again for an office on the same council or school board. The campaign deficit exists on paper. You are still obligated to pay any vendors that you owe money to.

Auditor's Report

If your campaign expenses or the contributions you received total more than $10,000 you must have an auditor review your financial statement and provide a report.

The auditor's report must be prepared by an auditor licensed under the Public Accounting Act, 2004. Before you hire someone to prepare the report, you should ensure that they are properly qualified.

Clerk's Report/Compliance Audit Committee

The Clerk will prepare a report addressing whether each candidate has complied with the requirement to submit a financial statement and shall make the report available to the public as soon as possible after December 8, 2025.

In addition, the Clerk also has the responsibility to review the source of all contributions to ensure that no contributor has exceeded the $1200 spending limit to each candidate and the contributor has not exceeded the aggregate spending limit of $5000 for all offices (candidates) on the same Council. In the event of an apparent contravention the Clerk shall prepare a report for each contributor and shall forward same to the Compliance Audit Committee. The Compliance Audit Committee shall consider the report and decide whether to commence a legal proceeding against a contributor for an apparent contravention.

Compliance & Enforcement

Automatic penalties

There are three contraventions of the Act where penalties apply automatically:

- 1. if you fail to file a financial statement or apply to the court for an extension by the filing deadline
- 2. if your financial statement shows that you exceeded your spending limit
- 3. if you fail to turn over your surplus to the clerk when you file your financial statement

The penalty is that you forfeit your office (if you won the election) and you become ineligible to run or be appointed to fill a vacancy until after the 2026 election.

Compliance audits

Each municipality and school board must appoint a compliance audit committee.

If an eligible elector believes that you have contravened the election finance rules, they may apply for a compliance audit of your campaign finances even if you fail to submit a financial statement by the deadline. The application must be in writing, and must set out the reasons why they believe you contravened the rules.

An application for a compliance audit must be submitted to the clerk who conducted the election within 90 days of the deadline to file the campaign financial statement.

The compliance audit committee will consider the application and decide whether to grant or reject the application. You may appeal the committee's decision to the Ontario Court of Justice within 15 days after the decision is made.

If the committee grants the application, they will appoint an auditor to conduct a compliance audit of your campaign finances. The auditor is entitled to have access to all of the financial records related to your campaign. The auditor will produce a report, which you are entitled to receive.

The compliance audit committee will meet to consider the auditor's report. If the report concludes that there is an apparent contravention of the Act, the committee will decide whether to commence legal action.

The compliance audit committee does not have any authority to set penalties. Only the court can decide if you actually contravened the Act and, if so, which penalties should apply.

A person who does not want to or who is not able to apply for a compliance audit may decide to commence legal action on their own.

Penalties

If you are convicted of an offence, you may be subject to the following penalties:

- a fine of up to $25,000
- ineligibility to run until after the next general election (2026)
- up to six months in prison
- forfeiture of your elected office, if the judge finds that you committed the offence knowingly

If you are convicted of exceeding the spending limit, you may also be fined the amount by which you exceeded the limit.

Prior to Voting Day, the Clerk shall provide each certified candidate a notice advising of penalties related to election campaign finances and the return of the nomination filing fee (if applicable) on the date the financial statement is submitted.

Candidate's financial statements are deemed to be public documents and will be posted on the Township's website in their entirety. The documents will be available to the public for inspection until the next term of Council takes office after the next election (2026).
